

We advise users of DRtools.eu headcombs to test them in drives where data isn't important, to get practice, these tools are made specifically to fit their models and it can damage the heads if used in other brand/models.

Always use them in a cleanroom and they must be slid carefully between the heads while these are parked on the ramp.